J.C. SLOCUM NAMED EMPLOYEE OF THE YEAR FOR GALLEGOS CORPORATION

DENVER, Colo.—August 3, 2015— The Gallegos Corporation is pleased to announce J.C. Slocum as the G3 Gold Employee of the Year recipient for 2015. The Gallegos Corporation created the G3 award in memory of company founder Gerald G. Gallegos to honor outstanding employees monthly with the G3 Silver award and yearly with the G3 Gold award for hard work and dedication to the company as well as for the highest level of service and commitment.

“This means a lot,” Slocum said. “I wish I could share the award with my team at Gallegos. They make it possible for me to be this year’s G3 Gold recipient. I appreciate the award but it’s because of the hard work of others that I am able to accept it.”

“JC is an ‘all hands on deck’ kind of guy who participates in all aspects of our division’s business— from high level business development to field work,” said Scott Christensen, president of Gallegos’s Denver Division. “He’s a very accomplished and hardworking individual.”

Slocum started his career with Gallegos in 1997 in Vail as an estimator and then went on to serve as a project engineer until 2000. He joined the team in Denver in 2002 as a Project Manager working his way to Senior Project Manager. Slocum received this honor based on his job performance as well as the additional ways he contributes to The Gallegos Corporation as a whole. Beyond his regular duties, JC received his certification with the Marble Institute of America to provide continuing education classes, attended Mountain States Employment Council Leadership courses and is one of the Process Champions in Gallegos’ efforts to streamline field operations and increase efficiency on all jobs.

When he started at Gallegos, Slocum viewed the large number of people who have worked with the company for many years as an inspiration. He said that he admired their tenure early in his career and now he is happy to be one of the long-term employees.

“I enjoy coming to work because of the people I work with,” Slocum said. “I feel lucky to have found such an outstanding company to develop my career. People here are your family and truly care about your best interests. It is a special place to work.”

Headquartered in the Vail Valley of Colorado and with satellite offices in Aspen and Denver, the Gallegos Corporation is celebrating its 45th anniversary.
